RUMFORD'S PROPOSED COUNTY MUNICIPAL BUILDING DISCUSSION

At the Court House, Tuesday afternoon, Ex-County Attorney Parker and Judge E. A. Stearns of Rumford showed contemplated plans for a County Municipal building for Rumford. Mr. Parker stated Rumford's position and outlined what was intended to be done. Rumford, he says, is a shire town and must be provided with suitable court room for the Supreme Court and the Municipal Court. The rooms now used for holding the Supreme Court are all inadequate. They could worry along with the Municipal Court quarters but it was thought best that the County and town join and erect a suitable building for all time. This would not decrease the expense to the county but would increase it. It was necessary and in the line of economy to build now.

The contemplated structure is to be 60x130 feet, three stories and basement. First floor for the use of the Rumford Municipal officers, such as selectmen, assessors, water board, town clerk, police commission and the like. The second floor for the County's use. The Supreme Court and Municipal Court to occupy the same room. There will be jury rooms and a private room for the Judge, also a law library.

On the third floor will be an auditorium with seating capacity of 600 on the floor and 400 in the galleries. This to be used for town meetings, drill room for the soldiers and theaters, etc. Estimated cost $75,000.00.

A good location can be had on "the Island" adjoining the lot owned by the government for a future post office. Rumford is a unit on this. The Power Co. will make a special price on this lot and the cost will probably not exceed ten thousand dollars.

The contemplated bill which will be presented to the Legislature was read. It asks authority for the County Commissioner and the Municipal officers of Rumford to erect the building jointly and it says, "that the cost and expense of the building shall be borne equally by the County of Oxford and the town of Rumford and the cost and expense of maintaining, repairs and general up keep shall be borne in equal shares by the County and the town of Rumford."

Authority is asked for the County to borrow not to exceed $35,000.00 for this purpose, also that Rumford can do this.

Judge Stearns felt the building could be erected for less money, maybe $30,000.00. Mr. Coombs, the architect's original plans, too expensive, requiring some one hundred thousand, and they were returned and plans for a cheaper building were made and it is up to fifty to seventy thousand will answer.

A. E. SHURTLEFF CELEBRATES 82nd BIRTHDAY.

Reception to A. E. Shurtleff.

A reception was given Alonzo E. Shurtleff of South Paris, by Mr. Mica Lodge, L. O. O. F., Friday evening, in honor of his birthday. Mr. Shurtleff is 82 years of age, but a person not knowing his age, would think him much younger.

The reception was a complete surprise to Mr. Shurtleff, who knew nothing about it until one of the Odd Fellows, Rebekahs and friends gathered during the evening and asked him to go up to the hall. On arriving there, he found over 200 Odd Fellows, Rebekahs and friends gathered there in his honor. He was presented a combination Odd Fellow and Rebekah collar from the members of the order, which consisted of sashes by Mr. Herman E. Wilson and Jessie C. Tolman, and several selections by an orchestra composed of Frank Knapp, Frank Kimball, Bert Dean, George Sopher, Grace Dean. Refreshments of sandwiches, cake, fancy crackers and punch were served.

Mr. Shurtleff has been a member of Mt. Mica Lodge of Odd Fellows ever since it was instituted here, which has been for 40 years and in all that time has missed only 14 meetings and those were on account of sickness or when he was out of town. He has been through all the official chairs of the lodge.

Mr. Shurtleff was born in Magalloway, Jan. 15, 1833. He lived in Portland 20 years before coming to South Paris. He has been a resident of South Paris for 47 years. He was employed in the Paris Flouring Mill for about 20 years. He then bought out the business and built the grain mill near the railroad, which was afterwards sold to Alton Maxim. He then bought the mill near the river and a few years ago sold that and bought the drug business for his son, Arthur Shurtleff. Mr. Shurtleff also works in the store with his son.

Basket Ball.

Another victory was won by Norway High school basketball team Friday evening, with a score of 39 to 14. The game was between the local team and the South Portland High.

The game was not up to what had been expected; the visiting team endeavored to keep the local team from running up a score on them and tried to hold the local men instead of going ahead and playing. It was said the first half of the game was the roughest playing thus far this season. The local team put up their usual good game.

The line up was:

Norway: Sanderson, H., H. Willard, Haskell, H., White, H., Davis, Smith, H., Higgins, H., Willard, H., H. S. 39.

South Portland: H. S. 14.

Baskets from floor, Sanderson 8, Haskell 3, Smith 3, Shepard 1, Klein 1, White 2, Davis 1. Goals from foul, Sanderson 6, Shepard 1, White 6. Referee and umpire, Colley and Farnum alternating.

In the other game of the evening the second team of the High school won 16 to 6, defeating a team of local boys. Those who played were: High school 2d, Bethell, Hall, Lasselle, Brooks and Bartlett. On the town team were Fogg, Young, King, Scavay and Luck.

Next Friday evening Norway High will play against Westbrook High at the Opera House. Westbrook is said to be one of the fastest High school teams in the state and they are after the championship. The make-up of the team is practically the same as it was a year ago, when they gave Norway such a hard game.

Wiggin L. Merrill, who recently moved to Brockton, Mass., was in town, Tuesday and Wednesday and attended the Masonic Ladies' Night.

If you want Norway Special Envelopes you can have them by calling or sending to this office. We sell them without the return printed in for ten cents a bunch per bunch.

Mr. and Mrs. Talbot Mundy returned to their home here, Tuesday, after a three weeks' visit to New York City. They are much pleased to get back home again.

Ernest A. Merrill of Ward 3, Manchester, N. H., is representative to the General Court at Concord, N. H., and has introduced a tax valuation bill that bears his name and is up for general criticism and abuse. We remember Mr. Merrill as a Norway resident a few years ago. He lived near Dry Mills on Sanborn Brook.

Gertrude Clark of Portland is the guest of Mrs. John Shepard at the Shepard farm.

Charles E. Gammon of Pike Hill suffered a shock, Tuesday. At last reports he was slightly gaining. His daughter, Mrs. Edwin Brooks, and husband, came Tuesday night.

The installing team of the Rebekahs went to Mechanic Falls, Wednesday evening, and installed the officers of Colfax Rebekah Lodge, No. 27. Those who went were Ada Libby, district deputy; Eva Kimball, deputy grand marshal; Gertrude Hosmer, deputy warden; Clara Kimball, secretary; Linnie Bartlett, treasurer; Dora Brett, chaplain; Emma Cullinan, inside guard. They went to Mechanic Falls with Ira Harriman as teamster.

Local Poultry Raisers.

P. F. Stone has about 50 birds that he is wintering this season. Mr. Stone has 33 Rhode Island Reds and 14 White Plymouth Rocks and a few mixed breed.

He is using the Philo system and has 5 houses, each are 8x6 ft. These houses are two stories high. The first floor is the ground scratching floor. The earth has been dug out to a depth of a foot and replaced with sand. The second story contains the nests, roosts and hoppers for dry feed, dry mash and oyster shells. These houses contain 7 to 12 birds each.

The hens which he has this season are out-laying the pullets and he also says the red birds are out-laying the white ones.

The White Wyandottes came from the Chadbourne poultry farm at North Brighton and the Rhode Island Reds came from C. I. Boober and Arthur Morrill.

He is marketing his eggs by private sale. Earlier in the season he successfully sent a package of a dozen to Massachusetts by Parcel Post. It is understood a number of the local dealers have taken this means of sending eggs in the newly patented boxes very successfully.

Miss H. M. Taylor returned Saturday from a week spent in Boston on business. Mrs. Gertrude Allen attended to the work at the store during her absence.

Ladies' Night.

The annual Ladies' Night of Oxford Lodge, No. 18, P. & A. M., was held at Masons' Hall, Tuesday evening, Jan. 19. A fine band and salad supper was served. A corp of young ladies waited on table. There were over 225 present.

After the supper an entertainment was given in the upper hall. The entertainment was a picture show by H. N. Bragdon of South Paris, with Harley D. True as operator. The pictures were very interesting, many of them especially so, because of being local scenes such as the Grand Trunk at night, the Fair at Rumford, besides an Animated Weekly and several short plays.

Dancing was in order after the second reel, in the lower hall, where those who preferred to, could dance. Music for dancing was furnished by A. M. Dunham and dancing was done by Mrs. Fred Moore, Nathan A. Noble and Mrs. Fred Moore.

A very pleasant evening ended by all with a variety of entertainment.

Browning Club Winter Picnic.

The Browning Club was pleasantly entertained Monday evening by Mrs. John Shepard at the Shepard farm at Crockett Ridge. In spite of the rainy weather there were twenty-two members who made their way to the Shepard farm in a double team piloted by Ed. Rich, in the early evening.

After arriving at the farm the first thing on the program was a trip to Hillcrest Farm Grove. To take this trip it was necessary for each to find a partner which was done by matching the lines of a song. The procession all formed, the path led up the front stairs, through the upper rooms, down the back stairs, to the kitchen, where each member was presented with a basket containing their supper, thence to the dining room. Such a "dining room" it was. The walls of the room were lined with fir trees, a briar fire burned brightly in the large fireplace, the lights were turned low and to make a more woody setting, nearby bubbled a spring of water. A more unique place could not have been devised to serve supper.

During the evening games and music were enjoyed. Later in the evening, ice cream was served.

The early risers of Norway village were pleasantly surprised Monday morning to find that the sidewalks and crossings throughout the village were cleared of snow and in fine shape for travel as was Odell Rich. This is the first time in nearly a third of a century that the crossings on Main street have been broken at this hour, to the writer's personal knowledge.

Stephen McAllister is ill and confined to the house.

D. D. G. P. Ada Libby and suite from Mt. Hope Rebekah Lodge went to Mechanic Falls, Wednesday evening, and installed the officers of the Rebekah Lodge. OXFORD.
Geo. B. Turner gave a banquet to his clerks Thursday evening. A very pleasant time was enjoyed. Those present were J. Lebrake, Leonard Bova, Ida Stone, Howard Whitman, and Miss Akers. Mrs. Etta Towne, who was called to Waterford by the sickness of her sister, Mrs. Henry Ruff, returned home Friday of last week. She found her sister suffering from a nervous breakdown. Your correspondent was misinformed in this statement and would like to have it corrected. I said Mr. Currier was living in Mr. Wight's rent and working for Scott Patterson, who was sick. Mr. Kerr lives in Mr. Wight's rent on Pleasant street and works in a shop for himself. A doctor of Lewiston was in town, Wednesday, in consultation with Mrs. Charles Andrews' physician. They pronounced her a very sick woman, but spoke very encouragingly about her. Monday night she seemed much better. Doris Andrews came home from Colby, Saturday, to see her mother. Mr. Foss did not have a meeting Sunday night, on account of the storm. A large number of the W. R. C. members were out Saturday and a delegation from the Post came to the Corps room. After the business was completed, Mrs. Hayes, escorted by the color bearers, presented the president, Mrs. Hanscome, with a large birthday cake from the Corps. The president was so surprised that she forgot that the Patriotic Instructor had prepared an entertainment in recognition of McKinley day.

FORE STREET.
Augustus Johnson of Bailey's Island is at work at present for E. E. Twitchell. Chas. Lovejoy, formerly of this town, was at his farm, last week. Oscar Judkins of Upton was at his cousin's, Al Twitchell's, Monday. Gladys Edwards of Norway visited at E. E. Twitchell's, Saturday and Sunday. Chas. Allen has been very poorly the past week. Mr. Bailey is helping do his chores. Ernest Stanton is having the whooping cough.

WEST BUCKFIELD
Mr. Chapman, who carries Watkins' remedies and essences, spices and toilet articles, was through here last week and stayed over night at Fred Bennett's. Mabel Pearson returned from Rumford, Saturday. Leroy Bradbury and family were at Frank Penley's, Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. George Record were at Irving Smith's, Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Will Fogg, George Fogg, Philip Keene and Susie Flagg were Sunday guests at John Smith's. Eugene Bennett helped furnish music for the dance at West Sumner, Friday night. H. W. Phillips went to Paris, Saturday. Mrs. E. V. Pearson and Beatrice, Mrs. Ernest Buck and Leona, Mrs. P. M. Bennett and Marjorie were guests of Mrs. R. J. Warren, at North Buckfield, Sunday.

ORIGIN OF RED CROSS.
Nearly $1,900,000 has been raised by Red Cross Christmas Seals in the last six years, yet many people who bought these holiday stickers at this seventh annual sale do not know how the charity stamp idea originated. It was the war that brought forth the charity stamp—our Civil War of '61 to '65. Some of your grandmothers first played "postoffice" with stickers similar to Red Cross Seals way back in 1862, when they conceived the idea of selling stamps at fairs for the benefit of the relief funds for the soldiers' hospitals in Brooklyn, Boston, and elsewhere. Nearly $1,000,000 was raised in this way before 1865. After the war, this method of raising money was discontinued in this country for a generation, although it found vogue in Portugal, Switzerland, Austria, France, Spain, Denmark, Norway, Russia, Sweden and other European countries. There are now several thousands of different types of charity stamps used in all parts of the world, as many as forty being used in Austria for children's hospitals alone. Stamps on seals were first used to get money for the anti-tuberculosis crusade in Norway and Sweden in 1904. To Jacob Riis, the well known social worker of New York, and to Emily P. Bissell, the energetic secretary of the Delaware Red Cross, jointly belongs the honor of originating our American Red Cross Christmas Seal. In 1909, Mr. Riis' interest was aroused by the receipt of a Christmas tuberculosis stamp on a letter from Norway. He published an article about this queer looking stamp in the Outlook, and suggested some possible uses for it in this country. Miss Bissell at once saw an opportunity here and prepared a stamp, from the sale of which her society realized $3000 for tuberculosis work. So impressed was she with the success, that she induced the American Red Cross to take up the sale in 1908 on a national basis. With very little organization and with hardly any attempt at careful advertising, the sale that year brought in, nevertheless, over $135,000 for anti-tuberculosis work in various parts of the United States. In 1909, with more thorough organization, the sale was increased to nearly $310,000, in 1911 to over $300,000, and in 1912 to over $400,000. Last year the sale was increased to nearly 45,000,000 seals, netting $450,000 for the anti-tuberculosis campaign. It is fitting to note that war, inhuman and cruel, was the mother of the Red Cross Seal, and that now war for humanity against disease brings it to its fullest usefulness.

EAST STONEHAM.
The Congregational parish meeting was held at the church, Thursday evening, Jan. 14, at 6.30 o'clock. Supper was served and was followed by the business meeting. The report shows that the church has had a prosperous year. The same arrangement of afternoon services with Rev. C. N. Eliopoulos as pastor will continue for the ensuing year. The parish committee are: Clerk—F. H. Bartlett. Treas.—Raymond McAllister. Col.—Frank McAllister. Church Com.—F. R. McAllister, C. L. Chaplin, E. E. Allen. Tena, McAllister of Albany is visiting her uncle, Ernest McAllister, a few days. Joseph Pitts of Harrison was in this place, Wednesday. He came by auto. Mrs. W. D. McAllister was a guest of her mother, Mrs. Skinner, in Waterford, Saturday and Sunday. Mina Oldsman, who was the guest of Mrs. John Files, has returned to her home in Albany. Merton McAllister went to Morrill's mills to work last week. Frank and Raymond McAllister are cutting and hauling birch timber for H. L. Bartlett.

NEED
Too many women struggle under pains and aches.
They are not sick—but weak, nervous, irritable.

Such women need that blood-strength that comes by taking SCOTT'S EMULSION. It also strengthens the nerves, aids the appetite and checks the decline.

If wife or mother tire easily or look run down, SCOTT'S EMULSION will build her up.

Number Twenty-Two.
Recollections of Early Settlers of Greenwood

By PROF. A. E. VERRILL of Yale University
Greenwood City School Teachers in Early Years.

Among the early school teachers at Greenwood City, I can mention only a part. The earlier ones that I remember were Geo. W. Patch; Rawson Coburn, who taught seven winters; Sidney Per-ham; Wellington Hobbs; Lydia Whit-tle; Lorinda Whittle; Sarah Mitchell; Willard Whittle. Among the later ones were Winfield Cordwell, who taught five winters; Emerson Whitman; Eli Furlong; Henry Nash; Benj. Parker; Wm. F.
French; Eli Brown; Emily Packard; Milwood Yates; and others. They are not named according to their sequence.

Rawson Coburn was the teacher who had an unwarranted row with one of his larger pupils, Augustus Cole, son of Calvin, whom he struck over the arms and head with a large stick of wood, as I have been told by an eye witness, still living, and Mr. Coburn taught there no more. I remember him as very excitable in school at times, and it was thought to be due partly at least, to the use of liquor, an idea strengthened by his later history.
Many of the boys got whippings at his hands, on such occasions, for trifling faults, as I have seen myself.

Tibbets Place; Suicidal Attempt;
Diamond Ledge.
Down by the east side of Hicks Pond, toward the "Mud Pond," famous for its fine water lilies and deep black mud, there was a house built by Mr. Tibbets, after wards occupied by Mr. Cummings.

It was at this place that a "hired man," of Tibbets, tried to commit suicide, in three ways:—by cutting his throat with a razor, by hanging, and by drowning. He made a mess of all three ways, and soon recovered. I am told that he is still living, as a very old man. His name was Johnson. This was the only suicidal case, in those days, in the town.

Upon the slope of Herriek Mountain, a little south of the Tibbets place, was "Diamond Ledge," a huge mass of white quartz, in the base of which there was an open vein, lined on both sides with splendid crystals of quartz of all sizes, up to four or five inches in diameter and six inches long.

With care, great masses of the vein-stone could be removed, four to six inches or more thick, entirely beset with the transparent crystals.

Tons were taken away, but more were carelessly or recklessly destroyed.

Visiting this place for those crystals was, perhaps, one of the most important events in turning my mind to the study of mineralogy and geology, when I was a boy, ten to thirteen years old.

Greenwood residents, especially by G.
Gilman Cordwell, five years my senior, and his cousin, Winfield Cordwell, somewhat younger; by G. Oscar Bennett; and by my cousins, Wm. H. Harrison Verrill, now living in Minot, and Roscoe G.
Hill, born of Portland. Many others have aided me in settling doubtful points in respect to the descendants of the old families. Yet I have as a rule, written only of the families that I formerly knew personally. There were, however, many other families that I knew, fairly well, of whom I have not had time to write.
Others may well take up the task where I leave it. Very likely I have made some errors, for memories of things and names, sixty to seventy years old are not infallible.

Owing to the circumstances under which these articles have been written at Norway, I have not been able to refer even to my own numerous records, that are locked up in New Haven. Those would have enabled me to give a more discuss and other facts with more precision than when writing from memory alone.

No. 4.

An All-Day Meeting.

Thursday, Jan. 14, Parker Relief Corps held their installation. G. M. Knight Corps of North Waterford invited. Parker Relief Corps also guests. Mrs. Lila Rice was installing officer, assisted by Mrs. Manning, conductor, also the color bearers of G. M. Knight Corps and Mrs. Hazel Wardwell, pianist. The work was very interesting. Mrs. Phoebe Littlefield is the new president. It was an all-day meeting, and dinner was served in dining hall. A fine time was enjoyed by those present.

Mrs. Maud McAllister and son Carroll were guests at S. G. Manson's this week and attended Suncook Grange installation.

Irving Stanley and family have moved in with his mother, Mrs. L. Stanley.

Mrs. Nellie McAllister is at Edgar F. McAllister's since Mrs. McAllister's death.

Eugene Stanley died at his home Dec. 26, after a long and painful illness with carbuncles on his neck, which was not affected the spine. His illness was not considered serious but a few days before his death, which came as a surprise to many. It was very sad, for Mrs. Stanley was seriously ill with erysipelas at the same time. She has since rallied for a few days, but is again worse and is having a hard time.

Mr. Stanley was a kind husband and father and a most obliging neighbor, always ready to lend a helping hand to others and will be much missed by all.

The funeral was at his late home, Dec. 29, at 2 o'clock, Rev. Mr. C. G. French, pastor, officiating. The floral offerings were many and beautiful.

DON'T NEGLECT OLD HOME FOLK.

Why do we make such a fuss over strangers, or mere acquaintances, or occasional visitors, in our homes, doing our utmost to appear at our best before them, to have everything slick and spick and outside our intimate circle, and 'dollar up' ourselves when company's expected, while we'll let the house get mussed up and neglect to comb our hair mornings, when there's nobody but the family to see. We get so accustomed to the folks who are with us every day, that we actually class them with the pieces of furniture and sometimes fail to give them as much consideration as the furniture. This is particularly the case when there are old people in the old family circle—old people who aren't very spry any more and who have grown timid with their infirmities and with being left out of the family considerations.

I visited in a most excellently kept home not long ago. The housewife was a busy woman. So were her two daughters. The menfolk were the sort who only came home to meals—not always regularly at that—and to sleep. They lived in a big house, apple-pie order. Everything shone. And there was a continual polishing, by the three women, to keep everything in order 'because somebody might come in.' Presumably a cushion out of place would be a disgrace if 'somebody came in.'

Now in that household was a bent old man. One hardly noticed him, he kept himself so effectively in the background. His family hardly took the trouble to introduce him to a visitor, simply through thoughtlessness, it appeared, for they meant to deal kindly with the old grandfather. But you see, everybody in that household was so busy. The old man was so slow. He took time to speak. He didn't hear very well. He liked to stop and think about things before he expressed an opinion. He was so apt to talk about old things that were past and done with. And one really couldn't stop to bother when the silver had to be cleaned and the parlor dusted and the dog washed and the rugs shaken out.

But there was a wistful look in the old man's eyes, and he appeared pathetically grateful when I sat down beside him for a little chat. Our little chat extended into most of the afternoon and I found him one of the most interesting souls I had ever known. I wondered if that family knew of the treasure they possessed, and could realize what they were missing by ignoring this gentle hearted, wise old man.

I meant to go back there some day for another talk with the grandfather, but the next time I passed that way I found that he had quietly faded out of the busy family's existence. 'I never knew I'd miss him so,' said the daughter. 'Somehow,' she thoughtfully added, 'when I saw him lying there, his white hair made a sort of halo around his face and there seemed to be a light there that I never noticed before. I've been wondering if we really appreciated him. But he always kept so quiet and there's so much to do somehow we didn't think—'

HOW TO MAKE BIRDS LIKE NEW ENGLAND.

Plant Shrubs to Provide Food and Shelter That Will Furnish Them Homes. Attraction of birds in New England and other States of the Northeastern section of the United States, by the planting of fruit-bearing shrubs and trees and erecting suitable bird shelters, is the subject of a new farmers' bulletin issued by the United States Department of Agriculture. The work relates particularly to the communities along and near the rocky New England coast.

Considerable experimenting has been done in this State under the advice of Mr. Furbush in the of the proper kind of bird house, protection, feeding arrangements and the attraction and preservation of birds. Mr. Furbush has written a book covering these phases of agriculture and outdoor life, which is issued practically at cost by the State Board of Agriculture.

The juniper is one of the shrubs most highly recommended by the government bulletin for the New England bird lover to use in attracting his feathered friends. Then the following are given: Common barberry, English thorn, hybrid crab-apple, European and American mountain ashes, smooth and staghorn sumacs, privets, buckthorn and redberried elder. Mr. Furbush explains that this juniper is the Virginia or red cedar and that there is also the ground juniper. They bear berries the birds like and have such thick growth that they form protection in the winter.

The European and American mountain ash, according to Mr. Furbush, are best for the winter and the birds feed on the seed of the sumac when they can obtain little else. He adds in the list the red berried elder as one of the best because it comes so early and for that reason he includes the shad bush. The latter is like the high blue berry and is sometimes called the Juneberry. It fruits in June, does well in New England and the birds are fond of it.

The barberry is another recommendation by Mr. Furbush. He describes it as one of the greatest favorites of the birds. It furnishes fruit all winter for the birds, which clean up the berries. The mulberry is also recommended as one of the best for attracting the birds. It fruits all through the season and the birds prefer it to the cherry. The new American mulberry does well here in his opinion. For the fall and winter the black elder, which bears bright red berries that hang on all winter, is strongly favored.

Mr. Furbush has found in the matter of bird boxes that the plain box made in this country for 15 to 20 cents is much more successful when placed on a long smooth pole than the imported varieties made from sections of trees.

The government publication continues with a list of plants for sand, such as the beach grass, sandflowers, the aster, and the bayberry, sea buckthorn, and cherry, beach plum, cranberry and hawberry for the fruit eaters. The bulletin recommends planting the wild varieties of fruit adjacent to the cultivated varieties as a protection to the latter. If wild strawberries are grown near the cultivated beds in the same garden the former will ripen at the same time and the birds will eat the wild fruit in preference to the other.

H. T. Sawin of North Waterford is closest to his business and will have an auction beginning Thursday, Jan. 28th. Everything is to be sold. A. D. Park, auctioneer.

EAST SUMNER.
Fifty-Fifth Anniversary.

On Friday, Jan. 8, Sharon Robinson and wife, Hannah (Briggs) Robinson of East Sumner, in a quiet way passed their 55th wedding anniversary. Owing to poor health no formal observance of the event was noted.

With the exception of some ten months while Mr. Robinson was in the Civil War, their married life has been spent where father, grandfather, and great-grandfather lived and died. Mr. and Mrs. Robinson have had only one child born to them, Addie F. Keene, wife of Ezra Keene of Harrison.

Mr. Robinson and wife have been companions for some 70 years, attending the same district and high schools, both joined the Congregational church and the church choir at the same time where Mrs. Robinson sang alto and Mr. Robinson, bass, or acted as organist for many years.

They were charter members of the Good Templar Lodge, and years ago were active in amateur stage play and local entertainments. In 1893 at a great school exhibition Mr. Robinson played a "Slocum," which name took so well that it has stuck to him ever since and when told for several Maine papers, over 50 years ago, he wrote over that signature.

Mr. and Mrs. Robinson were each born in 1837 and while "Slocum" admits the infirmities of age, "Aunt Hannah" still persists in declaring that she shall never grow old.

Until within a few years they kept open house for many travelling men, as there was no public house. Now they are quietly enjoying the reward of their labors.

WOMAN REFUSES
OPERATION

Tells How She Was Saved
by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Louisville, Ky.—"I think if more suffering women would take Lydia E.
Pinkham's Vegetable Compound they would enjoy better health. I suffered from a female trouble, and the doctors decided I had a tumorous growth and would have to be operated upon,
but I refused as I do not believe in operations. I had fainting spells, bloated, and could hardly stand the pain in my left side. My husband insisted that I try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I am so thankful I did, for I am now a well woman. I sleep better, do all my housework and take long walks. I never fail to praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for my good health."—Mrs. J. M. Rensch, 1900 West Broadway, Louisville, Ky.

Since we guarantee that all testimonials which we publish are genuine, it is not fair to suppose that if Lydia E.
Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has the virtue to help these women it will help any other woman who is suffering in a like manner?

If you are ill do not drag along until an operation is necessary, but at once take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., (Confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

WELCHVILLE.
Mrs. Frances L. Staples.

Mrs. Frances L. Staples passed away at her home at 1.30 a. m., Christmas day.
She was the youngest daughter of the late Cynthia and Joseph B. Noble, born at Denmark, Aug. 8, 1856. She leaves a husband, George D., a son, Rev. Fred
M. Staples of Mechanic Falls, a daughter, Mrs. Leola C. S. Harrington of East Dedham, Mass., and one grandson, Norman Staples Harrington.

She was a beautiful type of womanhood, quiet, unselfish, a most devoted loving mother to her children, her first and last thoughts were for her loved ones.
A kind, obliging friend and neighbor, one to whom many whispered their little secrets, feeling sure they would be kept.
She always had a kind word for everyone.

She had suffered greatly but was sweetly patient through all, always fearing to make worry for those about her.
The end came suddenly and was a great shock to her loved ones, yet it was quiet and peaceful as her whole life had been.
She went to sleep on Christmas morning and woke in heaven on Christmas morning. She will be greatly missed by all who knew her.

The services were held at her home, Monday, Dec. 27. The floral tribute was large and beautiful, but her peaceful, beautiful face was the fairest flower among them.

Mrs. Rosa Billings of East Oxford is very sick, has a cancer.

Ruth Downing of East Oxford was walking one day last week. She slipped and fell, striking on her nose.

Florence Hunting was in Lewiston, Saturday; also Mrs. B. N. Dudley and daughter Ruth.

Nathan York was in the Twin Cities, Saturday.

Charles Sanborn is sick.

Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Cloutier and son Guy from West Mead spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. I. W. Hunting.

SOMETHING NEW.

Under the Sun.
Tropico, Calif., Jan. 8th, 1915.
NORWAY ADVERTISER:—A. A. Powers, of Wasta, South Dakota, and who was born and raised in South Bridgton, Maine, has got a chapter of scripture in his Bible that is not in the ordinary Bible.

I heard Mr. Powers, read this fourteen years ago. At the time that I heard him read this I thought it had been written by some fanatic.

This scripture explains that 1915 the world will begin new with the year One.
It explains why nearly the whole of Europe are now at war. How the war was started. How it will end. And when it will end.

It gives the history of some of our statesmen. And says: After helping to write up a set of laws that will become a law in their own country, they will then go to a country that is controlled by wicked rulers and then help them to establish a government that can be controlled without wicked rulers. It says that this scripture was written before electricity or telephones were known. It says I will lead a man to make some wonderful discoveries in the electricity. I will lead him to invent a talking machine.
He will name it Phonograph. This man will only require about one half of the feed and sleep that the ordinary man requires. He will be continually giving out statements that the people are making hogs of themselves.

It says that this man will go on a visit to see the head of our nation, and he will tell him confidentially; that he is working on an invention which will tell whether a witness is lying or telling the truth, and it is so arranged that if the witness does not tell the truth it will kill him. He will tell the head of his nation that he is not sure, but he thinks he is going to be successful. It says that he will have this completed just the time that this scripture appears in the paper.

It gives a long list of miracles that will be performed and then says: "If the world does not become better after all of these miracles have been performed, I will then call some of the better people on board of the ships, I will then sink the dry land and raise the seas. The seas will then become the dry land and the dry land the seas.

"In order to prove that this can be done I will sink an island in Europe that is inhabited by over one thousand people.
I will then raise an island. I will level a hill, I will then raise a hill, and then you will know that this can be done.

This scripture closes by saying:
"How this scripture was written, when it was written, or who it was written by, the people will never know. But they will be able to prove that it was written long before any of you were born, and when all of these things come to pass the world will know that God has once more returned to earth. The world will commence new with the year One, and sin will be thrown from the world as the ram was thrown from the frow, and they will become so that a man can go away and leave his pocketbook, and when he returns he will find it where he left it."

It says that a Bible containing a copy of this scripture will be handed to the head of our nation by a man from another nation, a year and six months before this will appear in the paper, and he will be told at the time that it is handed to him that it contains this scripture. He will be inspired and lay it away and not use it.

Later the man in charge of the scripture in this country (and who lives in South City, Iowa,) will go and call his attention to the scripture.

Yours truly,
H. B. BURBANK.

SOME SIGHTS IN CUBA.

As Seen by An Oxford Co. Man.

Havana has a handsome view from the harbor. The harbor runs out into land like a narrow channel, but it is a very good harbor for vessels to land.

The streets in Havana are very narrow, just wide enough for two teams to pass. The electric cars take the whole street except space for a man to walk.
The sidewalks are just thirty-six inches wide on either side of the street, when two persons meet, one must step off.

There are many teams of mules and they are very small, weigh from six to nine hundred pounds each, driven mostly by colored men and the wagons are small but very heavy and they have very heavy loads.

There are many theatres and moving picture shows in Havana.

When a man goes to Cuba from the North he first must go to an employment office and he will find plenty of work of every kind. Out in the country there are many miles of nice roads. There are a large number of small bridges all made of cement. The farms are all out of sight of the main road, with just a trail leading to the house. The frame of the house is made of small rounded poles fastened together with the bark taken from the tree used as a stout cord, and then the top is covered with palm leaves and the walls are made of the bark that falls from the palm tree. For light there is a square hole in the wall.

There are many remains of old deserted houses that were very nicely built of what looks like good cement, but they are a ruin. People live in what is left of some of them.

They do their farming with cattle with the yoke tied to their horns. The wheels of the cart are eight feet in diameter and the driver is either on the cart or walking on the off side with a long whip.

In the western portion of the island of Cuba there is a large cattle ranch, that supports fifteen thousand cattle and about half as many horses. The cattle are of the Spanish bull fighters and at this present day it is very dangerous to walk near or even ride close by where they are feeding.

The horses are of a small pony weight, from five to eight hundred pounds each.
There are about the same in proportion to the horses. There is one railroad line west of Havana that runs to Guana.

The largest crop in the west is sugar cane, with a very few fruit farms, such as bananas, pineapples, and orange groves.

Most of the work is done with oxen and the carts that are used are very heavy. The body is just a bottom with stakes eight feet high. The wheels stand seven feet high. The yokes are fastened to the horns so the ox cannot move his head up and down. The largest part of the load is on the forward end. The most of the load is on the oxen's heads.

They do not drive oxen in Cuba as they do in Maine. They walk behind and scare them along by throwing things at them, and they drive on the off side.

There are many miles of nice roads in Cuba and they are kept in good repair because there is no frost to heave them.
All of the small bridges are made of cement, and in center of the road in a line of stone, plain to be seen at a long

Simon Nason.
Simon Nason passed away at his home in Harrison village, Jan. 16th, after a lingering illness of consumption. He was formerly a resident of South Harrison.

Besides his wife (nee Nellie Lord) he leaves several children to mourn the loss of a kind and loving father. His children are Mrs. James Berry, Mrs. Willis Steadman and Mrs. Guy Rolfe of Bridgton, Wilbur, Leslie and Roy of Harrison. Funeral services were held at his home, Jan. 19th.

Among Mrs. David Greene's (Minta Trafton) wedding presents was one which she prizes very highly as it was given to her by one of Harrison's most beloved old ladies, known by all as Aunt Mary Rose, 81 years of age. It was a quilt all made by hand and quilted, and had been in their family many years, but looked as new as though it had been made recently. Hand work of this kind is very rare in these days.

It is rumored that Jesse Lewis has leased the Ernest Pike farm in Waterford and will soon move onto it.

Howard Randall is on the sick list; also Mrs. Eugene Gray.

Mrs. Howard Randall accompanied Floris Reed to her aunt's, Mrs. Ermine Bodge's, at South Windham. Flossie has been very sick with an attack of appendicitis and nervous troubles but got better and was able to be moved. While away, Mrs. Randall visited relatives in Portland and her sister, Mrs. D. E. Greene, were pleasantly situated and enjoying their new home.

H., and a daughter by a former marriage (Mrs. Alverta Sampson) and grandson, Fred Sampson, and a nephew, Ashley Eastman, who has lived with him from childhood, and been like an own son.

Mr. Brickett always had a cheery word for all. He was one of our most substantial citizens, temperate, honest, industrious and of more than ordinary business ability, accumulating a competency for his old age by his unaided efforts.

Funeral services were held at the house at 1 p. m., Jan. 19th.

Mr. Douglass and Rafe boarded at Everett Goodridge's last week and cut wood for E. C. Buzzell.

Susan Horne of Marlboro, Mass., is a guest at Mrs. Everett Goodridge's.

W. W. McGowan was sufficiently improved last week to be moved from M. Y. Kneeland's to his home on Temple Hill. Ruth Rounds is reported to be improving.

Mrs. Nancy Jewett has been suffering the past week from a severe attack of neuralgia.

An event of rare occurrence is the advent of triplets in any community. No one can remember that it transpired in morning Mrs. Arthur Millett gave birth to three boys. They weighed about three pounds each and though small are several days, but at the present writing we are informed that one died Sunday. The other two died Monday. The mother is doing well.
